

SECRET

Ans. a) A display control apparatus and a display control method are provided in which a resolution of an input image signal is judged, a change in the image signal is detected, and the image signal is adaptatively interpolated in accordance with the judgement and detection results, in which a resolution of an input image signal is judged, either a first display mode or a second display mode is selected for the display of the image signal, and the image signal is adaptatively interpolated in accordance with the judgement and selection results, or in which either a computer input signal or a television input signal is input, a resolution of the input signal is judged, and the input signal is adaptatively interpolated in accordance with the selected input and judgement results.